

Beck/Arnley Offers Oxygen Sensors

Beck/Arnley's line of oxygen sensors is made from the highest quality materials to meet or exceed their OE counterparts. They are designed to improve engine response time and performance, while reducing harmful pollutants and increasing gas mileage. The sensors are 100 percent quality tested for air tightness, continuity and heater resistance. A quality oxygen sensor also prevents premature failure of catalytic converters.